

Sonam Wangchuk

Hi, I'm Sonam Wangchuk in Ladakh across the Indian Himalayas. Here on the Tibetan Plateau, these glaciers are our lifeline. And not only us, roughly 2 billion people 1/4 of the world's population depend on these glaciers directly or indirectly, that's why they are called the third pole of the planet. But unfortunately, they are melting very fast, leaving behind flash floods and droughts alternatingly. Now to draw the attention of world leaders, we are sending a message in the form of a chunk of melting glacier with Jamyang la who is going to attend the kop 28 as a messenger from the Himalayas. The message we want to convey to you is, please live simply in your big cities so that we in the mountains may simply live.
